Nuevos talentos de Afecavol saltarán a la cancha en el Sub17 femenino

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, 23 de septiembre de 2024.- Una gran oportunidad para ver los nuevos talentos en crecimiento y cómo se viene preparando el desarrollo de las bases en el voleibol de la región, es lo que representa el Primer Campeonato Centroamericano Sub-17 Femenino, organizado por la Asociación de Federaciones Centroamericanas de Voleibol AFECAVOL.

Los entrenadores de los seis equipos en competencia señalaron la importancia de un torneo para ésta categoría y se den los primeros pasos competitivos.

José Fontes, entrenador de Belice: “Las expectativas de Belice son ver crecer a nuestras jugadoras, porque no tienen mucha experiencia competitiva. Lo primero que haremos es exigirles que crezcan y que tengan actitud dentro de la cancha y por supuesto también fuera. Es una gran oportunidad para todas ellas de crecer, de comenzar a aprender lo que es una competencia”.

Julio Dominguez, entrenador de Guatemala: “Esta es una categoría muy importante porque es la base para nuestras federaciones, ya que de aquí saldrán las atletas para las demás selecciones. Estamos con la disposición, entusiasmo de comenzar esta competencia que esperamos sea muy pareja. Agradecemos a Afecavol por tomar la iniciativa de montar esta categoría”.

Pedro Rivas, entrenador de El Salvador: “Es un torneo nuevo en la región, estamos muy contentos porque Afecavol se animó a hacer este evento para las niñas en esta categoría, estamos preparados para competir, esperamos dar sorpresas ante todos los equipos, aunque sabemos que todos los países son fuertes, pero haremos nuestro mejor esfuerzo”.

Cristiam Rodríguez, entrenador de Honduras: “Venimos con un proceso muy bueno, esperamos hacer un buen papel y entrar en el podium. Creo que la categoría es muy importante porque el desarrollo de las niñas en estas edades es más difícil, hay más errores y se requiere corregir más, estar más en competencia nos ayudará bastante. Todos queremos hacer un buen papel y será un bonito torneo”.

Claudia Noguera, entrenadora de Nicaragua: “La idea es representar dignamente a nuestro país, tenemos un conjunto de jóvenes talentosas y esperamos estar peleando para estar dentro del podium. La categoría es muy importante porque es el inicio de la carrera de las atletas y en su desarrollo es fundamental para poder llegar a tener un buen ritmo de juego cuando lleguen a la adultez”.

Kareem Richard, entrenador de Costa Rica: “Nuestras expectativas son muy altas, Costa Rica siempre intenta ser referente y se ha trabajado a nivel técnico-táctico para poder venir y tener un buen desempeño en este primer torneo de esta categoría; las chicas están emocionadas al igual que el cuerpo técnico y estamos a la espera que arranque el evento”.

El torneo se jugará de martes a sábado en el Gimnasio de Voleibol del Instituto de Deportes (IND) en Managua con partidos desde la 1:30 de la tarde. Este martes, en la primera jornada, habrá un acto de inauguración antes del inicio del tercer partido (6:30 p.m.) con las autoridades locales.
